

The Bad

Researcher requested many outputs to be returned the same day

Researcher requested 100s of tables on the same day

Researcher requested very similar large outputs multiple times, with lots of small differences that could be worked out.

Poor formatting meant it was difficult to read results

Researcher requested a graph which wasn't labelled or explained

Output contained zeroes with no explanation

Researcher made no attempt to remove small counts

Researcher requested same outputs previously cleared with small additions

Variable names meant nothing to anyone except researcher
